

JT White

Owner | WRBA Radio

JT White is a lifelong Manatee County resident, known to many by the nickname “Church.” He attended local schools from elementary through high school before pursuing a degree in Mass Communications, with a focus on radio and television broadcasting, at Hillsborough Community College.

JT began his professional career in the Manatee County School District, serving as an EBD Unit Specialist at Palmetto Elementary, a computer technician at Rogers Garden and Freedom Elementary Schools, and later as a Dean’s Assistant at Palmetto High School.

He went on to build a career in radio with WRBA Radio, where he became a trusted community voice and part owner of the station. Drawing on his diverse experiences and strong family background in education, JT has a unique ability to identify complex issues and communicate practical, real-world solutions that resonate across the community.
